

Island Hopping Sark and Herm

Experience Island hopping in the English channel. Guernsey serves as the hub for departures by sea and air to the beautiful islands of Herm, Sark & Alderney...

Herm

A tranquil beach paradise that's easily reached from Guernsey by ferry, Herm is a favourite with visitors and locals alike. As soon as you step off the boat onto the jumble of granite and wood that forms the harbour wall, the stresses of the modern world evaporate. Stay overnight to really appreciate the peaceful personality of this magical island. Highlights are Belvoir Bay – a secluded cove surrounded by beautiful scenery, Shell Beach – brilliant white sand like in the Caribbean! And the beautiful Coastal walk starting from the harbour where you can spot puffins.

Herm

Avec sa plage d'une merveilleuse tranquillité, Herm est un endroit idyllique, facilement accessible par le ferry depuis Guernesey, et une destination incontournable pour les touristes comme pour les autochtones. Dès que vous aurez posé le pied sur la digue, curieux assemblage de bois et de granite, vous sentirez s'évanouir tout le stress du quotidien. Pour pleinement apprécier le caractère tranquille de ce lieu vraiment magique, nous vous conseillons d'y passer une nuit.

Herm Path

Sark

Step back in time in beautiful Sark. Traffic-free and overflowing with natural beauty, the island is easily reached by ferry from Guernsey. Stunning coastal views and a picturesque rural interior are best experienced either on foot or by bicycle (available for rent on the island). There are also a number of good restaurants and hotels for those wishing to stay longer than a day. Highlights are La Seigneurs of Sark with its beautiful gardens; La Coupee a spectacular sight with its razor edged isthmus that joins the main island to little Sark and Venus pool perfect for bathing at 20 feet deep!

Sercq

Sur la magnifique île de Sercq, le temps semble s'être arrêté. Interdite aux voitures et comblée par une flore et une faune exceptionnelles, elle est facilement accessible en ferry depuis Guernesey. C'est à pied ou à bicyclette (disponible sur place à la location) que se laissent le mieux explorer ses paysages côtiers de toute beauté et l'intérieur des terres, plein de charme pittoresque. Plusieurs bons hôtels et restaurants accueillent ceux qui souhaitent y passer plus d'une journée.

Island Hopping Alderney

Despite being the closest island to France, Alderney feels more remote than any of the other Channel Islands. It's a paradise for nature lovers, a combination of landscapes and wildlife that are easily accessible from Guernsey by air or sea.

There are over 30 miles of walks that wind their way over cliffs and golden bays, across exposed commons, past Victorian fortresses and World war II batteries alongside the scenic golf course.

St Annes the capital is a community of colour washed houses, cobbled streets and shops and the magnificent 'Cathedral of the Channel Islands' at its centre. There are many welcoming pubs and restaurants on the island and there's even a gauge railway (the only one in the channel islands).

Alderney is home to almost 300 species of birds and includes 2% of the world's gannet population, making the island a bird watcher's paradise. Also, it features some exquisite sandy beaches with Branve and Longis being the most popular.

Alderney Events:

Alderney Week – 4-12 August – an action packed week of events for all the family

Alderney wildlife festival – 25-27 August – Discover Alderney's wild side

Annual Angling Fest – 6-13 October.

Aurigny

Aurigny est la plus proche des côtes françaises mais de toutes les îles Anglo-Normandes, c'est elle qui s'en distingue le plus par son caractère très affirmé. Véritable paradis pour les amoureux de la nature, avec sa faune et ses paysages exceptionnels, elle est facilement accessible depuis Guernesey par bateau ou par avion. Sainte Anne, la capitale, compte plusieurs bons restaurants, des pubs pleins d'animation et de nombreuses formules de logement adaptées à tous les visiteurs.

Nip over to the sandy beached
Island of
ALDERNEY
So close. So different.

A small slice of Britain with French dressing, that's Alderney.

Telephone: 01481 822333 Email: brochures@alderney.net
www.visitalderney.com

