

Spotlight on St Malo

St Malo's Magic

St Malo is France's largest marina, and is only one hour's drive from the beautiful Mont St Michel. Built on a granite island on the Emerald Coast of Brittany, the beautiful city of St Malo rises up from the rock and curves around a natural harbour. Its ancient citadel, the Cathédrale St Vincent, dominates the skyline, and sailing into the port best captures the romance of the town. You should count on about two hours to go around the fortress and enjoy the splendid view of the Emerald Coast. At low tide, you can reach the National Fort by foot and admire the harbour. You can then walk down the cobble stone streets to reach the cathedral, or just stop at a "crêperie" restaurant to enjoy a delicious crepe with a cup of local apple cider. In this fortress city of many legends, each street and each stone is a testament to its glorious past. St Malo's heart is the old walled town. Visitors can walk round the ramparts of the city's 20-foot thick walls for one mile to get the best views of the town and the harbour. Lower down, the city's winding streets remind you of a medieval maze, where you can stumble upon quaint shops, bars and restaurants. There are also a number of sandy beaches near the town, which stretch along the Northern Brittany Coast.

Top Attractions

CHÂTEAU DE ST MALO

Called the Bastille of the West, the Chateau was first the symbol of ducal power and then Royal power, now housing the town hall, a reservoir, a large keep and a castelet. Its towers also house the Musée de l'Histoire de St Malo, where you can discover the city's fascinating past.

RAMPARTS

Head for the 15th century Porte St-Vincent to access the magnificent ramparts. The 12-foot wide walls were built over several centuries, some dating from the 12th century, and offer fantastic views of the old town's houses, the bay and the islets at the mouth of the River Rance.

ST MALO CATHÉDRALE

The cathedral elegantly marks the transition between Romanesque and Gothic, and is famous for its 1160 nave vault.

THE GRAND AQUARIUM

Enjoy an underwater ride on the Nautibus, past ship wrecks and a lost city!

CORNICHE D'ALETH

This lovely walk offers magnificent views of the city of St Malo, the islands of Petit Bé and Grand Bé, and Cézembre. If the tide is low, consider walking along the stone-flagged path to Grand Bé islet. Where at low tide, this 25-minute walk will take you to Chateaubriand's tomb, marked by a simple cross. From the Ile you get superb views of the main coastline.

SHOPPING

St Malo centre has some great shopping. There are many shops which sell good quality "marine" type clothing and of course there are the usual souvenir shops. The prices of houses in the surrounding area are quite high so you will find this reflected in the goods and prices of items in the local shops. There are markets in both St Malo (intra-muros) and St Servan on Tuesdays and Fridays, and in Paramé on Wednesdays and Saturdays.
